Dear parents and carers,

One of our aims this year is to raise the aspirations of our children and show them that there are endless possibilities in life.

One of the ways in which we would like to do this is to have a few speakers in school telling children about their chosen profession and the journey that they have taken to get where they are. These don't need to be spectacular stories – just real life! We hope that our children may listen to these and be inspired to work hard and follow their interests.

Do you know of anyone that might be interested in coming to our children, or would you like to come and speak to our children about your profession?

I have attached a letter overleaf that could be given to anyone that you think may be interested. So, if you know a doctor, a politician, a successful business person, or even a sports star or an actor, please give them a copy of the letter and invite them to come and inspire our children.

The talks could be to the whole school or just to certain groups of children. We are flexible on dates and times and would happily fit in around a speaker. All speakers will have support from our staff at all times and will not need to spend more than half an hour in school.

I look forward to seeing if we can get our first speaker booked.

Yours,

Ryan Freeman
Headteacher
